Completely new look and layout. In general light/medium blues denote navigation areas.

Highlights are made using a darker blue throughout.

Obvious disadvantages:

Lots of programming

More images used (though most of these would be generic, and non-section-specific).

 Number: 2      Author: Claire      Date: 16/03/2014 01:04:34
Main navigation bar:

---

HOME has a drop down menu. The EXIT button appears here. Selected "buttons" are highlighted in a darker blue

Other items (eg Lifeline, Smartforms) are accessed via the main navigation bar

OCS has been selected. Accordingly it is highlighted in the main navigation bar.

Number: 2      Author: Claire      Date: 16/03/2014 01:05:07

Patient info (or user login info) always displayed top left

Number: 3      Author: Claire      Date: 16/03/2014 01:05:25

Section Heading (eg Order Communication System) appears in this grey bar.

Number: 4      Author: Claire      Date: 16/03/2014 01:05:29

Search, Order Sets, Basket etc appear in this light blue horizontal bar.

Number: 5      Author: Claire      Date: 16/03/2014 01:05:12

Variable navigation items appear in one area on the left hand side. Click on an arrow to expand (as shown on next screen).

Advantages:

By putting everything on the left hand side and having it expandable, more "working space" is available to display data.

There is space to add more variable navigation items on the left hand side.

Disadvantage:

Not all options are viewable at once without the use of a scroll bar.

This screen keeps the current method of Browse/Favourites/History navigation, in that they are displayed on left AND right side of the screen, and they are always on display.

Advantage: All options are viewable at once.

Disadvantages: Main display area is small. Too much blue on the screen. Left and right sides fight for attention.

(I didn't know if Browse, Favourites, History all had equal importance or not)
